

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A cavity sealer or tub is disclosed that provides a self-sealing and self-retaining member for sealing at least two and typically at least three metallic members (e.g., automotive architectural, structural, among other components or members). The sealer bonds to and becomes integral with the sealed metallic members.